BAPTISM BLESSINGS

Below are photos from two of our recent baptisms at Leigh Memorial - for the Goodridge & Ayoub families. What a blessing to have such beautiful little ones joining God's family at Leigh Memorial this Spring! The first baptism in our church was that of John Wesley Booth, which took place in 1885. John went on to become a Methodist Reverend and lived to 100. Since then, multiple hundreds of baptisms have been celebrated at Leigh, with each baby and child becoming a cherished part of our church family. Blessings for all.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY!!

Warmest congratulations to Ailsa & Himmie as they celebrate a very special (we hear 60 years+...) wedding anniversary! Such a wonderful achievement for two of our dedicated senior members and dear friends.

SECURITY MATTERS - ALL GROUPS

Everyone is reminded to follow our site's security guidelines, ie. locking doors, cupboards and windows when departing, dealing with rubbish appropriately, including throwing out any un-used or out of date food, turning off lights and appliances, being careful with valuables and looking after personal safety in the car park etc. Do not 'prop open' doors and never loan keys to anyone other than those who are approved to have them. Please report any concerns to the congregation leaders, or to Coral. Thank you.

A theology of Parramatta Mission as a church: How a church organises itself expresses a theology, of what some might call a “discursive practice.” That is ‘practice’ is a public discourse which not only names a reality we might become, but also becomes that reality. It is very important to consider our nature as church in every discussion and work about organising ourselves. There are many examples of Uniting Church parish missions across Australia who have organised themselves in a way not consistent with being a church. Sometimes what seems like a good idea from well-intentioned people can in fact be contrary to being a church. At first the changes seem small, but over time the full import becomes apparent, and can be both unalterable and destructive. The Church Council has requested that over coming months I facilitate opportunities for members of the congregations to discuss the following draft statement, and amended it as fit.

1. A starting point for theological reflection about the nature of Parramatta Mission as a church is the critical distinction between an institution and an organisation. Organisations are human made creations. The church is instituted by Jesus Christ (Matthew 16: Jesus says to Peter, “On this rock I will build my church). It comes about through the call of Christ made upon those who follow. Organisations comprise multiple elements. The basis of an organisation might be its constitution, the basis of Parramatta Mission as a city church based mission is the Basis of Union, a theological document. The church comprises one – Jesus Christ. People through baptism are joined to God the Father through Jesus Christ the Son, in the power of the Holy Spirit, and this is how people come into the church. It is not that the church is extended when more people are baptised because the church is already and for ever one in Jesus Christ; the church exists within a tension of what it is called to be (ought to be) and how it happens to be. The former refers to its theological foundation in Christ, in the purposes of God; the latter refers to how we practice our faith and ‘organise’ our life together for the sake of what the church is called to be in Christ.

2. Christ comes as Word. This coming to creation precedes the human response. It is a coming in both judgement and grace. Judgement in that all creation is found to be less than faithful, grace in that still Christ comes to all creation seeking to renew and enliven and providing the way through baptism and repentance and the ongoing life of discipleship.

3. A critical statement for the Uniting Church is that expressed in the Basis of Union, Paragraph 15, “One holy catholic and apostolic church worshipping, witnessing, and serving as a fellowship in the Spirit of Christ.

4. One holy catholic and apostolic church are the marks of the church. It is not that people are one, holy, catholic and apostolic, but Jesus is one, holy, universal (catholic), sent (apostolic) who now sends those who are joined to him to the end of the age. This joining to Jesus is through baptism and in faith; people become disciples of Jesus who are fed through the proclaimed word and participation in the eucharist. Oneness with Jesus transforms religion into worship, witness and service (John 4: Jesus and the Samaritan woman at the well)

5. Worship, witness and service are functions of the church. These are the elements of mission established within the call to discipleship. Such mission is relational and responsive. They are not detached values. These three functions are not separated. Worship includes witness and service, witness includes worship and service, service includes worship and witness. Worship without service is like the Priest and the Levite who walked past the traumatised man, and contrasts with the Good Samaritan who stopped; service without worship is like Martha serving in the kitchen refusing to listen to Jesus and contrasts with Mary who listened (Luke 10:25-42: the commandments to love, the parable of the Good Samaritan and the narrative of Mary and Martha with Jesus).

6. Jesus gave his attention to people on the margins and included them; people such as the poor, widows, women, children, the sick, people in captivity and therefore the church as the body of Christ will also be with the people on the margins seeking to include and embrace them and their needs and their hopes. For Parramatta Mission, this means our worship, witness and service are given focus to hospitality, community and clinical/mental health services.

7. The organisational question for the church is if this is our theology, how do we live out our discipleship and organise ourselves, under the guidance of the Spirit, seeking to discern the mind of Christ.

8. Ministers of the Word are people who have been joined to Jesus through baptism, fed through the eucharist, and follow in the way of discipleship to Christ; they are formed and set aside for the continuing ministry of Jesus Christ, this ministry is one of preaching, celebrating the sacraments, proclaiming the gospel and representing the one holy catholic and apostolic church through their life of prayer, leadership, administration and pastoral care. The Minister of the Word has a representative function in holding worship, witness and service together and thus model for the church faithful Christian living.

9. In speaking about the different foci of Parramatta Mission, the distinction is not between the congregations and the services, but between focus on worship, or witness or service, even while recognising that all three functions are combined.

10. An outworking of the worship, witness and service of Parramatta Mission is the common good, defined as the love of God and neighbour such that people are able to thrive.

11. Loving neighbour and increasing in love of neighbour is through the movement of first going deeper into God through the work of repentance which is a work of unity, growing in holiness, broadening the horizon to universal, and responding in faithful discipleship as sent ones of Christ to the ends of the earth to the ends of time in an apostolic mission (Luke 24:44-49).

Blessings, Keith Hamilton
