Luke 13:10-17

10 Now Jesus was teaching in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath. 11 And there was a woman who had had a spirit of infirmity for eighteen years; and she was bent over and could not entirely stand erect. 12 And when Jesus saw her he called to her and said to her, "Woman, you have been freed from your affliction", 13 and he placed his hands on her and immediately she was straightened, and she glorified God. 14 But the president of the synagogue, angry that Jesus healed on the Sabbath, said to the crowd, "There are six days on which it is necessary to work, come on those days to be healed and not on the Sabbath". But the Lord answered him and said, "Hypocrites, is it not so that on the Sabbath each one of you unties your ox or ass from the manger and leads it away to give it a drink? 16 And ought not this woman, a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan bound for eighteen years, have been released from this bondage on the Sabbath day?" 17 When he said all these things, those who were opposing him were shamed, and all the crowd rejoiced over all the glorious things that were happening because of him.

(Translation by Keith Hamilton)

Reflections

At first reading, this text would speak about condoning action over being. We see this evidenced in the behaviour of some, who when the going gets tough, they become more frenetic. Call more meetings, increase the activity because that will make a way when in a tight or difficult situation. However, the context is of Jesus in the Synagogue on the Sabbath. It is worth stopping to reflect why Luke sets the context of the Synagogue and on the Sabbath? Is it just 'colour' to the narrative, or is there something more? Is it condoning the modern trend of no time off, keep the phone on, be in email contact 24/7, never clock off, be 'available' or is it something else?

In Luke 4 Jesus in the Synagogue on the Sabbath, launches his mission with a manifesto quoting Isaiah 61 and Isaiah 62.

18 "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor; he has sent me to proclaim release to captives and recovery of sight to the blind; to liberate the oppressed for release; 19 and to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord." 20 And having closed the book and returning it to the attendant, he sat down. And all the eyes in the synagogue were upon him. 21 And he began to say them, "Today this scripture has been fulfilled".

(Translation by Keith Hamilton)

The phrase of interest is "to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord." There is much in this phrase. It means Sabbath rest, going back to the creation story of God creating in six days, and having a rest on the seventh – the sabbath. If God can rest, so can the creation, including you and me. It says something about God having a certain 'control', and God creating something new.

It is the core of the message of Jesus, that a new era has arrived, is arriving – the kingdom of God that we pray in the Lord’s Prayer, which means that people who have been bound, bent over by life’s stuff, can be straightened up by God’s grace. Those who are bound will be released, the hungry fed, the poor receiving good news. Those who are addicted to working seven days without relief, can be freed to savour life. Jurgen Moltmann said, “People are more than the sum of their works, and more than the sum of their sufferings. That is why being is more important than doing or having.” We are more than our doing, more than the sum of our parts. Our value is not in what we do; it is in who we are. We are made in the image of God. We have inherent worth and dignity. We are our being. The healing by Jesus on the Sabbath is not to condone working seven days per week; it is that the true meaning of the Sabbath is straightening up people who have become bent over by the burdens of life and the expectations of society. The Sabbath is about restoration and recreation, and aligns with God’s work of liberating humans from oppression.

The Synod Social Justice Forum, of which I am a member, met last Thursday in Taree at Taree Uniting Church (UCA). The purpose was to engage with the Presbytery of the Mid-North Coast UCA. As many would know, Parramatta Mission has an office in Taree, and already engages with the Taree UCA, including the annual art exhibition coming up in October. A number of our staff joined this meeting to further hear about the work of the forum and the Uniting Church in the mid-North Coast, and to inform of our work and the issues we face. The discussion included how we can further our relationships and collaboration.

Current Social Justice Forum priorities are:

- Affordable Housing;
- Give Hope: Uniting for Asylum Seekers;
- Climate Change;
- Family and Domestic Violence;
- Fair Treatment (Drugs- including law reform and treatment).

Look out for the showing of the documentary Half a Million Steps at Leigh Memorial Church, that explores the difficulties people have in obtaining fair treatment, and the campaign the UCA is conducting to both raise awareness, to increase access to treatment and change the way we deal with the issue.

Mid-North Coast Presbytery. At extreme right Rev Simon Hansford, Moderator of the Synod of NSW.ACT. We are sitting inside the UCA church in Taree, of which I was a member 1980-1981, and there that I heard the call of God to be a Minister of the Word and leader of a Parish Mission. It took 27 years from hearing and responding to the call, and then becoming the leader of a parish mission (PM).

Linda and Amanda shared this story of a PM client:

JACKO is a 46 yr old male who had been transient, living in his car for some time. He was picked up by police and recognised as unwell so taken to Manning Base MHIPU. From here JACKO was referred to the HASI program (commencing in Feb 2019) by the social worker as he transitioned from the ward in to single men's accommodation in Taree.

JACKO completed a Care Plan with his key support worker, with the following goals

- Find suitable accommodation
- Find a foster home for his dog D
- Find work/ or volunteering

There was known recent suicidal ideation and substance abuse. JACKO has no contact with family. He would also often jump in the river in the middle of the night. While at the single men's accommodation JACKO continued to abuse substances, and police/ambulance were called on more than one occasion

There were also issues with other tenants involving bullying (of JACKO) and verbal abuse. The caretaker had also advised that he always needed prompting to keep his room tidy.

Regular supports were put in place for JACKO, including 1:1's, social supports (coffee club, wellness walks and tennis). While at the single men's accommodation he was supported in going shopping for groceries, and then coming back to the PM house and cooking some meals to freeze so he could take them home for dinner. He said that his was a great help, as otherwise he would have just gone and bought takeaway or not eaten at all. During these cooking sessions JACKO began to feel comfortable with support workers and talked about his past and some of the things he had done. When we first met JACKO he had quite a stutter, which became worse when he felt stressed, unwell or under pressure. JACKO had worked quite extensively in hospitality, and said that he would be keen to look for something to do. SW's found him some work experience in a local fish and chip shop, and after a few weeks he was offered a permanent one day a week role. This has boosted his confidence and given him a sense of worth.

JACKO and support workers recognised the need for him to find accommodation and he was given assistance in collecting information and lodging a housing application which is now live. SW's assisted in searching private rentals, and attending rental inspections. JACKO was to be offered accommodation in Harrington, and was excited that he was able to have his pet greyhound D with him. D had been in temporary RSPCA foster care in Sydney and support workers assisted JACKO in arranging for the transportation of D up to Taree. JACKO said he knew he would get well again once he had his dog.

JACKO disclosed that he had suffered a lot of mental illness in his life, and that he currently feels better than he has in many years. He said that he has had support from many providers and had admissions to several mental health wards but the support he has received from the HASI program in Taree has been the best he has ever received.

JACKO now lives independently with D and maintains his residence well. He works his one day a week, engages in regular 1:1 supports, sees his LHD Care Coordinator regularly, as well as attending coffee club, and playing tennis. He comes to PM office weekly to do his washing. JACKO has also recently been supported in attending an information session and enrolling in Cert I Computer skills at Taree TAFE and starts this course in Semester 2. It has been a long while since SW's have heard JACKO stutter. D is happy to be with his master and they go for a walk along with beach every day together.

Blessings Keith Hamilton
